

神戸大学大学院国際協力研究科
GSICS (Graduate School of International Cooperation Studies)

GSICS Special Seminar

The 20th PCRC International Law Seminar

Prospects of Arctic Cooperation in light of Ukraine crisis

Speaker : Prof. Alexander Sergunin

JSPS Invited Fellow, April-June 2022
Invited Professor, GSICS, Kobe University
Professor, St. Petersburg State University, Russian Federation

May 17th Tue 10:40 - 12:10

Venue : GSICS 6th floor Simulation Room

This seminar is a part of GSICS courses
Please ask about the details to your supervisor
This seminar is held in English

This seminar aims at not only examining the spill-over effect of the Ukrainian crisis' new phase for the Arctic but also at discussing some remaining opportunities for regional cooperation. The sectors such as energy, mining, Arctic shipping and the development of other transport infrastructure, climate change mitigation and adaptation, conservation of biodiversity, indigenous peoples and scientific cooperation will be explored.

Recent Publication : Co-author, "The Northern Sea Route development: the Russian perspective", in Arctic Maritime Logistics: The Potentials and Challenges of the Northern Sea Route (Springer, 2022), pp. 283-303.